| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> I love this course, it turned out to be a lot more fun than I had anticipated going into the semester. Aaron is a wonderful instructor, and he works really well with his students. My favorite part about the course is the class speakers that we get to listen to. Also, Aaron makes sure that everyone is participating in class by taking poll questions and having us play economic games, which I think is super helpful for our learning process. I really like the way that we take notes in class and the course material is so easy to find on our wyocourses. A-Aaron did a great job teaching concepts and using examples to reinforce these concepts. In class examples. Wish board work was worked through slower. Aaron is a great teacher! He always comes to class ready to teach, on time and well- prepared. Economics is a difficult concept for me to understand, yet he made examples related to real-life, that were easy to grasp. I appreciate his knowledge of Economics and his willingness to help us learn. He graded assignments clearly and tests were written well. The in class test was a bit long for the time period we had, but I was able to complete it in the allotted time. I really liked that Aaron brought in guest speakers for each unit, I learned a ton from them! I would definitely take another course from Aaron, he is one of the best teachers I have had. Aaron is one of my favorite professors. I have been here for four years and never have I had a professor that is so good at explaining course material and attentive to his class. I loved how he took notes on his iPad, it was so easy to follow along and all his examples were very well explained and helped me understand the material even better. I really liked the excel assignments because it took time and effort to understand how to do it. Which meant I had to really pay attention to what I was doing and it helped me remember the material better. I do wish we would of had more review sessions or more practice problems on study guides so I can continue to practice what I've learned. Overall Aaron was a great instructor and I would definitely take a class from him again. The card games were very useful to understanding the prisoners dilemma he did a good job presenting his criteria He is great at making me feel like more of power instead of his student. He makes me feel included which is surprising for such a large class and always offers help when needed. He is an excellent teacher and I'm very happy I got him as a micro professor. I liked that Aaron used his iPad to do the notes with us in class. It was helpful to have the visual notes while we were taking notes. It was also helpful because it was easy to keep up with the lesson as well as knowing that what he was writing down was what we were supposed to learn and what we would need to know. I also liked that our assignments were done in Excel instead of directly in Canvas. From the very first class period he was very respectful and considerate of students and made an effort to learn everyone's names. Everything we learned in class he made sure to teach us to enhance understanding rather than just for the test and he made sure to relate to the world around us. I think having additional links to readings and videos associated with each chapter really helped because Mr. Enriquez made sure to provide us with material that would help us succeed. He was always very apt to helping in anyway possible, answering any questions we may have and explaining things however many times we may need in order to understand. When going into office hours he was very understanding of my questions and was willing to help until I was comfortable with the material. Keeping students accountable through Poll Everywhere questions not only helped ensure students went to class but it quizzed us on what we knew and made sure to answer any questions we may have towards a particular subject. All around he was an awesome instructor and I would take another class from him again. Aaron Enriquez was one of the best instructors I have had. I would strongly recommend other students to take his class. I liked that the professor wrote out his notes with the class. This made it 10x easier to follow along and understand the content. He was very understandable as a professor and though his class was a bit difficult I really enjoyed him as a professor. It would be nice if the notes were posted online, even if it was a couple of days after that specific class or just at the end of the year. The assignments really helped me solidify my understanding of concepts. The polls also helped me stay involved in the class. If anything the switching between slides and writing on the board was a little hard to follow. Aaron does a great job drawing things with good examples on his I-pad in front of the class, I believe that this helps keep the class engaged in the material. He does a great job keeping the class bi-partisan. there are a few topics like taxes, tariffs and subsidies that I think could have had a better explanation of their long term effects and solutions. There was some day the speaker/ microphone sounded like we were hearing everything twice. | |
